The North West Territory Alliance (NWTa) is a living history organization, formed to promote interest in the American Revolution of 1775-1783 by honoring the courage and devotion of those who participated

The North West Territory Alliance

Mission Statement

The North West Territory Alliance is an educational organization composed of volunteers who strive to present, as accurately as possible, a realistic portrait of military and civilian life during the American Revolution

Welcome to the NWTA

You may have already attended one of our battle re-creations. You might have watched our dress parade or saw a display by one of our crafters. Perhaps you talked to some of our members at the rope-line and were impressed by their enthusiasm. But in any case, you want to know more...

So what is the NWTA all about? We are a non-profit educational organization which studies and recreates the culture and arts of the time of the American Revolution, 1775-1783. We strive to duplicate the uniforms, weapons, and other equipment of the time as accurately as possible.

The NWTA is organized into military units each based on an actual unit of the time. Uniforms and equipment are scrupulously researched and reproduced. You will find rebels, loyalists, professional soldiers, frontiersmen, townfolk, farmers, craftsmen, merchants, sailors, Americans, British, French, and Germans.

The NWTA hosts events all over the Mid-west, featuring accurate military camps, military drills and parades, battle re-creations, fashion shows, and much, much more. By recreating 18th century camp life and battle scenarios, the NWTA attempts to entertain and educate the public.

The NWTA is a family organization. Men, women, and children are encouraged to participate, for there is a wide variety of options available for everyone. The NWTA is a passageway to another time. We invite you to join us if you are interested.

An Open Invitation

If, after watching us today you can picture yourself enjoying this activity, then you owe it to yourself and your family to try it out. We would like to invite you to come and visit us for a weekend.

First you need to complete the attached form. We will then contact you to provide a schedule of events so you may choose a date to attend one of the events.

Prior to the event, the unit that you will stay with for the weekend will contact you to make suitable arrangements for clothing, food, and shelter. Then, all you need to do is get to the event site (you will receive instructions) and get to know us.

After spending the weekend if you decide that this is not something that interests you that will be fine. You are under no obligation to continue. We know that you will drive away with memories that will last your life-time.

However, if you determine that you want to proceed with the hobby you would then pay your membership dues and we will continue to explore the many options that are available to you.

Membership

Annual membership in the NWTA gives members access to research materials, the right to participate at all NWTA events, and to vote in the government of the organization. In addition, the NWTA sponsors seminars and other lectures of interest to members of the organization.

The Courier, our NWTA's newsletter, is published several times a year and contains articles of interest announcements, and information on upcoming events.

If the idea of recreating military life of two centuries ago sounds entertaining or exciting, we hope you'll consider accepting our invitation. We look forward to your visit in the neat future.
